NAPA, Calif., April 8, 2010

FARM BUREAU ENDORSES BRAD WAGENKNECHT & DIANE DILLON FOR NAPA COUNTY SUPERVISOR

NAPA, Ca. – Napa County Farm Bureau announces the endorsement of incumbents Brad Wagenknecht and Diane Dillon in the upcoming Napa County supervisorial race. Both Supervisors possess extraordinary leadership skills and are ardent supporters of Napa County’s agricultural heritage. With the difficult issues facing the county today, the experience, leadership and fiscal management skills of Wagenknecht and Dillon will prove invaluable to sustaining a resilient economy, providing essential county services and protecting our natural resources.

“Strong support on the Board of Supervisors for our agricultural businesses is essential to our members and to our county. Wagenknecht and Dillon consistently show support for preserving Napa’s agricultural legacy and sustaining our family farms and ranches,” said Jim Lincoln, Napa County Farm Bureau President.

Wagenknecht’s extensive civic service, comprehensive knowledge of county government, and notable history of working collaboratively with the ag industry has earned him wide support in District 1 and throughout the county. He led the effort to create Napa’s Regional Parks & Open Space District to improve our public parks, recreational facilities, conservation education programs, wildlife habitat and open space resources. During Wagenknecht’s tenure in the civic arena, he has shown an ability to respect and understand the diversity of opinion and help guide the community in reaching agreement and solutions to complex problems. As a county supervisor, Wagenknecht consistently supports smart growth policies, affordable housing initiatives, and agricultural protection measures.

Diane Dillon is seeking her third term representing the county’s Up Valley 3rd District. She has worked diligently to protect our agricultural lands and open space, strengthen the economy, manage county funds and find solutions to the state budget quandary. In her seven years as Supervisor, Dillon has promoted policies that encourage sensible development while protecting ag lands. She effectively worked with regional and state leaders to reduce the mandated housing requirements on the county. Dillon is accessible to her constituents, listens carefully, and intelligently votes for county policies that protect and enhance Napa County's resources, programs and revenues.
